| Thermal Bio-Clay • Mature thermal mud | 30,00 |
| Our thermal bio-clay is made from mature mud extracted from the Lake Costa within the Euganean Hills Regional Park. It has been known for millennia for its healing properties. This is because applying thermal bio-clay is the most effective way to release and transmit the healing force of our thermal water to the body. It is a 100% natural mud which remains immersed in our thermal water at a temperature of about 38 degrees for at least sixty days. This "maturation" period generates an organic biofilm of extraordinary anti-inflammatory strength. The mud is applied directly to the skin and left for about 15 minutes at a temperature ranging between 37 °C and 42 °C. The treatment finishes with a tonic shower and a thermal bath. | |
| Facial thermal Bio-Clay for sinusitis | 20,00 |

THE STAGES OF MUD THERAPY

3. Application of mud: the mud is applied directly to the skin at a temperature between 38° C and 42° C for a period of time that varies from 15 to 20 minutes.
4. Bath in hot spring water: after the mud has been removed the guest is washed with a hot shower and then immersed in a hot spring bath at a temperature of 36-38°C. for about 8-15 minutes.
5. Sudoral reaction: the guest then relaxes for around 30-60 minutes, for the sweating phase of the treatment, which completes the biological effects of the mud therapy.

PHYTO thermal Bio-Clay

In a world where so much is synthetic and artificial, our thermal bio-clay truly stands out for being natural. It is precisely to nature and our history and traditions that we looked to innovate this successful product. Aware that only natural ingredients could be added to our bio-clay without compromising it leads us to study phytotherapy, in particular that developed using the herbs found in the Regional Park of the Euganean Hills. We have developed a series of treatments that combine the millenary strength of our thermal bio-clay with the healing properties of medicinal herbs used in the great Benedictine tradition.
